Tailored professional art tuition for students looking to successfully move up to the next level

Private tuition by artist Marion Thomson, BA, PG Dip RAS

Marion studied fine Art at University of Newcastle upon Tyne and the Royal Academy Schools, London. Having taught painting and drawing for more than ten years she understands how to encourage students to develop ideas and to achieve success with their art work. Marion is a practising artist and exhibits regularly.

Having considerable experience teaching students on National diploma and A-level Art and Design courses at The Sheffield College, Marion is now offering private, tailored tuition to post 16 and A-Level students as regard to, curriculum work, drawing and painting technique, portfolio building, portfolio preparation and building for application and interview onto higher education courses. Her tuition sessions are also appropriate for students working towards secondary school and college art scholarships.

Tuition

Tuition is tailored to individual students and can be given on a 1 to 1 basis or as a shared session between two students. Sessions can be either 1 or 2 hours duration.

An assessment of the number of tuition sessions that would be beneficial can be given prior to booking. Typically, A-level preparation, portfolio building, interview technique and applications will be split over two sessions. Painting and drawing assessment, technique and improvement could take up to four sessions.

Places, times and prices

Sessions can be taken at Marion's studio in Sheffield S11, or at the student's home.

Tuition sessions: Weekdays: Wednesday - Friday, 9am - 9pm; Saturday, 9am - 6pm.

Hourly rates are: £22 at Marion's studio or £25 for home visits. Session costs can be split between two students
